PRESIDENT'S REPORT

DES LAMONT

THE ANNUAL REPORT IS TRADITIONALLY A DOCUMENT OF FACT AND STATISTICS, A RECORD OF THE YEAR PAST AND AN INDICATOR OF WHAT IS PLANNED FOR THE YEAR AHEAD. IT IS SAID THAT HISTORY REQUIRES CONTEXT FOR VALID INTERPRETATION AND AS I WRITE MY FINAL PRESIDENT'S REPORT, THAT ADAGE RINGS TRUE.

Part of that context was the manner in which the Institute's dedicated staff coped, and thrived, with the up-and-down events which constitute daily life. To CEO, Maura Quinn, Chief Operating Officer, Thora Mackey and all their colleagues, I want to pay tribute for the excellent service they provided to all our members, and to the President and Council, in their administration and development of the Institute, by their diligence and professionalism. Throughout the year, I have been struck by their dedication; and at various events members have remarked on the excellent manner in which they represent our Institute.

UNEXPECTED NEW CHALLENGES

After a number of years of relative economic stability internationally and encouraging progress nationally, 2016 threw up a whole new set of uncertainties.

In Ireland, we had a hiatus in government and continuing crises in housing and migration, which were unsettling features throughout the year. The UK Referendum provided a result that few in Ireland anticipated and brought the decision that our neighbours would become the first Member State to seek an exit from the European Union. The potential difficulties this might cause for Northern Ireland have been a source of business and political concern since. In the US, a new President was elected, threatening an unprecedented shake-up in international trade and diplomatic relations where there has been a strong and stable partnership for the Irish business community for decades past.

While trying to come to grips with the various new challenges in different business sectors, which this tumult presents, the more prosaic aspects of strategic direction had to be addressed for all our membership.

KEY TOPICS IN 2016

Aside from external developments, there were new regulatory requirements in different fields, to which we responded by providing factsheets to members with the help of McCann FitzGerald and briefings from some of Ireland's foremost experts in their fields.

For instance, in November 2016, EU-wide regulations aimed at fighting the financing of terrorism and money laundering came into effect. In response, we circulated advice from McCann FitzGerald.

Similarly, new statutory auditing regulations and financial disclosure obligations for unlimited companies came into force. Mark Kennedy, Managing Partner at Mazars, gave members an up-to-date briefing on what Irish directors need to know.

In 2016, the IoD reached a key milestone of having over 100 accredited Chartered Directors.

A significant development in 2016 was the publication of the revised Code of Practice for the Governance of State Bodies by the Minister for Public Expenditure and Reform, Paschal Donohoe. The Code has been updated to take account of developments in respect of oversight, reporting requirements and the appointment of board members. We offered a workshop in October to update members. Other topics for briefings included Brexit, risk management, detecting fraud and the property market outlook.

As President, it was my good fortune to attend these briefings and to see and hear the advice being offered by expert speakers. After every function members confirmed to me the value of the contributions they had heard and the quality of the discussion and debate on offer. To all our speakers and advisers in their different fields of expertise, I again offer my sincere thanks for your contributions.

SURVEYS

This year, the Institute again conducted a number of surveys among members. Two in particular stand out. We got a very high response rate – almost 400 members – to our survey about the role of non-executive directors in Ireland.

That research demonstrates that members believe the work of non-executive directors has become more complex and demanding over the past three years, with more time spent preparing for, travelling to, and attending board and committee meetings.

Following the surprise Brexit vote we teamed up with our Institute of Directors UK colleagues for the first time to survey members' reaction. The most specific finding was that 47 percent expect Brexit to take effect in 2019.

CHARTER DIRECTOR PROGRAMME

In 2016, the IoD reached a key milestone of having over 100 accredited Chartered Directors. With the guidance of our new Programme Director, Eileen Gleeson, our Chartered Director Programme is going from strength-to-strength, proven by our 35th cohort beginning their course in September 2016. This is a wonderful achievement for a programme which only commenced in 2008. The IoD in Ireland is particularly proud of the quality of the results which emerge from our Irish candidates and I congratulate all for their diligence and commitment.

IoD SPONSORS

We attracted new sponsorship for our 2017 series of events with Mazars sponsoring our breakfast and evening briefings, First Names Group sponsoring Lunch Bites @ the IoD and Diligent renewed its sponsorship of our Building Better Boards series. Each of these sponsors make an invaluable contribution to the services we can offer to members and we truly appreciate their support.

Our thanks also to McCann FitzGerald and Amrop for the various partnerships and sponsorships that enable the work we do for our members. Diligent also kindly sponsored our Christmas Lunch at which members raised over €20,000 for homeless charity, the Peter McVerry Trust.

COUNCIL

Finally, to my colleagues on the Council, I offer my sincere thanks for their work and support of the Institute. Their wise words of advice and experience were invaluable to me as President and their dedication will ensure that our Institute continues to develop and serve. Two new members, Dan Flinter and Harry Lorton, joined the Council in 2016 and have been excellent additions around the table.

In completing my term as President of the Institute I want to put on record my thanks to every member of the IoD for their participation, in whatever fashion, during the year. I wish to reiterate my appreciation of the courtesy and friendship shown to me by members at every function I attended during the year. The strength of the Institute of Directors in Ireland directly reflects the involvement of our members and by that measurement, it is a healthy, growing, organisation.

Warmest Regards

Des Lamont President

CHIEF EXECUTIVE'S REPORT

MAURA QUINN

Maura Quinn, CEO of the Institute of Directors in Ireland (middle) with Olivia Buckley (left) and Cora O'Brien of the Irish Tax Institute at the IoD's Tax in the Boardroom briefing in April 2016 at the Westbury Hotel.

IN LAST YEAR'S ANNUAL REPORT I EXPRESSED THE HOPE THAT THE IoD'S MEMBERSHIP WOULD CONTINUE TO INCREASE IN 2016. I AM PLEASED TO REPORT THAT IS EXACTLY WHAT HAPPENED AND OUR MEMBER NUMBERS NOW EXCEED 2,600 FOR THE FIRST TIME.

I believe this reflects two key developments over the past twelve months. Firstly, directors' responsibilities have continued to increase and secondly, issues of corporate governance have continued to be scrutinised. We have responded by increasing our visibility; and deepening our engagement with members, stakeholders and government, providing expert insight and original research to maintain our position as Ireland's leading promoter of best practice in corporate governance.

We have continued to develop our range of training, information and networking events with an array of high-level, expert speakers. Nearly 5,000 people attended our events which addressed the priority issues directly affecting the work of executive and non-executive directors in areas such as the economy, politics, regulatory compliance, risk management and building better boards.

An important part of our work is to inform both government and the public about matters critical to good corporate governance. To that end, we increased our communications activity with more webinars, a 66 percent jump in Twitter followers and a 38 percent jump in LinkedIn followers. We also ran a six-week national radio and online campaign in 2016.

The redevelopment of our website in 2015 also brought benefits. In 2016, the site attracted nearly 35,000 new users; a 72 percent increase in visits; and 176 membership applications through the new online service. This was achieved through a combination of content marketing, advertising and the hard work of our team.

Our lobbying in support of members' interests and the promotion of better standards included approaching the Minister for Finance to end the anomalous tax treatment of non-executive directors in respect of their expenses. We also provided input into the review of the State Board Appointment process.

We continued to provide our broad range of services to boards and directors in Ireland through our Board

Technology entreprenuer and author Bill Liao with IoD CEO Maura Quinn at a briefing for members in Cork.

Evaluation service, bespoke board training and personalised director coaching.

Meanwhile, our non-executive director and chairperson appointment service delivered through the Boardroom Centre continued to grow. In 2016, we assisted companies across all sectors – from SMEs and family businesses to major financial institutions – to source excellent candidates. In addition, the Boardroom Centre provided confidential advice and resources to members and client companies.

The response to our membership satisfaction survey provided good results with 81 percent of respondents saying that our service matched or exceeded expectation while 66 percent said their membership helped them to network. Overall, our satisfaction rating was 4.2 out of 5.

Finally, I want to express my deep thanks to the Council of the Institute of Directors for their support and direction over the past 12 months. In particular, our outgoing President Des Lamont for his commitment, professionalism and insight in leading the Institute during a period of membership and service growth. I am sure I speak on behalf of all members in wishing Des all the very best for the future.

Warmest regards

DIRECTORS' RESPONSIBILITIES STATEMENT

FOR THE FINANCIAL YEAR ENDED 31 DECEMBER 2016

THE DIRECTORS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR PREPARING THE DIRECTORS' REPORT AND THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS IN ACCORDANCE WITH IRISH LAW AND REGULATIONS.

Irish company law requires the directors to prepare the financial statements for each financial year. Under the law, the directors have elected to prepare the financial statements in accordance with the Companies Act 2014 and FRS 102 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland' issued by the Financial Reporting Council and promulgated by the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland (relevant financial reporting framework).

Under company law, the directors must not approve the financial statements unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the assets, liabilities and financial position of the company as at the financial year end date, of the profit or loss of the company for that financial year and otherwise comply with the Companies Act 2014.

In preparing these financial statements, the directors are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- make judgments and accounting estimates that are reasonable and prudent;

- state whether the financial statements have been prepared in accordance with applicable accounting standards, identify those standards, and note the effect and the reasons for any material departure from those standards; and
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the company will continue in business.

The directors are responsible for ensuring that the company keeps or causes to be kept adequate accounting records which correctly explain and record the transactions of the company, enable at any time the assets, liabilities, financial position and profit or loss of the company to be determined with reasonable accuracy, enable them to ensure that the financial statements and Directors' report comply with the Companies Act 2014 and enable the financial statements to be audited. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

The relevant financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is the Companies Act 2014 FRS 1-2 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland' issued by the Financial Reporting Council and promulgated by the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland.

This report is made solely to the company's members, as a body, in accordance with Section 391 of the Companies Act 2014. Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the company's members those matters we are required to state to them in an Auditors' report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the company and the company's members as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

RESPECTIVE RESPONSIBILITIES OF DIRECTORS AND AUDITORS

As explained more fully in the Directors' responsibilities statement on page 14, the directors are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view and otherwise comply with the Companies Act 2014. Our responsibility is to audit and express our opinion on the financial statements in accordance with Irish law and International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland). Those standards require us to comply with the Financial Reporting Council's Ethical Standards for Auditors.

SCOPE OF THE AUDIT OF THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

An audit involves obtaining evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements sufficient to give reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatement, whether caused by fraud or error. This includes an assessment of whether the accounting policies are appropriate to the company's circumstances and have been consistently applied and adequately disclosed; the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by the directors; and the overall presentation of the financial statements. In addition, we read all the financial and non-financial information in the Directors' report to identify material inconsistencies with the audited financial statements and to identify any information that is apparently materially incorrect based on, or materially inconsistent with, the knowledge acquired by us in the course of performing the audit. If we become aware of any apparent material misstatements or inconsistencies we consider the implications for our report.

2. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

2.1 Basis of preparation of financial statements

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Financial Reporting Standard 102, the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and the Republic of Ireland and Irish statute comprising of the Companies Act 2014.

The preparation of financial statements in compliance with FRS 102 requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires management to exercise judgment in applying the company's accounting policies (see note 3).

The following principal accounting policies have been applied:

2.2 Tangible fixed assets

Tangible fixed assets under the cost model are stated at historical cost less accumulated depreciation and any accumulated impairment losses. Historical cost includes expenditure that is directly attributable to bringing the asset to the location and condition necessary for it to be capable of operating in the manner intended by management.

Depreciation is charged so as to allocate the cost of assets less their residual value over their estimated useful lives, using the straight-line method.

Depreciation is provided on the following basis:

Office equipment - 20% Straight line Computer equipment - 20% Straight line

The assets' residual values, useful lives and depreciation methods are reviewed, and adjusted prospectively if appropriate, or if there is an indication of a significant change since the last reporting date.

Gains and losses on disposals are determined by comparing the proceeds with the carrying amount and are recognised in the Statement of income and retained earnings.

2.3 Debtors

Short-term debtors are measured at transaction price, less any impairment. Loans receivable are measured initially at fair value, net of transaction costs, and are measured subsequently at amortised cost using the effective interest method, less any impairment.

2.4 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash is represented by cash in hand and deposits with financial institutions repayable without penalty on notice of not more than 24 hours. Cash equivalents are highly liquid investments that mature in no more than three months from the date of acquisition and that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash with insignificant risk of change in value.

In the Statement of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents are shown net of bank overdrafts that are repayable on demand and form an integral part of the company's cash management.

2.5 Financial instruments

The company only enters into basic financial instruments transactions that result in the recognition of financial assets and liabilities like trade and other debtors and creditors, loans from banks and other third parties, loans to related parties and investments in non-puttable ordinary shares.

Debt instruments (other than those wholly repayable or receivable within one year), including loans and other accounts receivable and payable, are initially measured at present value of the future cash flows and subsequently at amortised cost using the effective interest method. Debt instruments that are payable or receivable within one year, typically trade debtors and creditors, are measured, initially and subsequently, at the undiscounted amount of the cash or other consideration expected to be paid or received. However, if the arrangements of a shortterm instrument constitute a financing transaction, like the payment of a trade debt deferred beyond normal business terms or financed at a rate of interest that is not a market rate or in case of an out-right short-term loan not at market rate, the financial asset or liability is measured, initially, at the present value of the future cash flow discounted at a market rate of interest for a similar debt instrument and subsequently at amortised cost.

Financial assets that are measured at cost and amortised cost are assessed at the end of each reporting period for objective evidence of impairment. If objective evidence of impairment is found, an impairment loss is recognised in the Statement of income and retained earnings. For financial assets measured at amortised cost, the impairment loss is measured as the difference between an asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated cash flows discounted at the asset's original effective interest rate. If a financial asset has a variable interest rate, the discount rate for measuring any impairment loss is the current effective interest rate determined under the contract.

For financial assets measured at cost less impairment, the impairment loss is measured as the difference between an asset's carrying amount and best estimate of the recoverable amount, which is an approximation of the amount that the company would receive for the asset if it were to be sold at the balance sheet date.

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the Balance sheet when there is an enforceable right to set off the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

2.6 Creditors

Short-term creditors are measured at the transaction price. Other financial liabilities, including bank loans, are measured initially at fair value, net of transaction costs, and are measured subsequently at amortised cost using the effective interest method.

2.7 Finance costs

Finance costs are charged to the Statement of income and retained earnings over the term of the debt using the effective interest method so that the amount charged is at a constant rate on the carrying amount. Issue costs are initially recognised as a reduction in the proceeds of the associated capital instrument.

2.8 Pensions: defined contribution pension plan

The company operates a defined contribution plan for its employees. A defined contribution plan is a pension plan under which the company pays fixed contributions into a separate entity. Once the contributions have been paid the company has no further payment obligations.

The contributions are recognised as an expense in the Statement of income and retained earnings when they fall due. Amounts not paid are shown in accruals as a liability in the Balance sheet. The assets of the plan are held separately from the company in independently administered funds.

2.9 Interest income

Interest income is recognised in the Statement of income and retained earnings using the effective interest method.

2.10 Historic cost convention

The financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis of accounting and are denominated in Euro, denoted by the symbol " \in ".

2.11 Members' fees

Annual income and registration fees for members are included in the income and expenditure account when no significant uncertainty about its collectability exists. Subscriptions received in advance are included in deferred income.

2.12 Boardroom Centre income

Boardroom Centre income is included in the income and expenditure account in the period to which it relates.

2.13 Chartered Director income

Chartered Director income is included in the income and expenditure account in the period to which it relates.

2.14 Affiliation fees

Affiliation fees are payable annually by the Institute of Directors in Ireland to the UK Institute of Directors, based on the number of its members

2.15 Deferred income

Deferred income consists of membership subscriptions for the calendar year received in advance and Chartered Director income received in respect of courses which are scheduled to be held after the statement of financial position date.

2.16 Taxation

Tax is recognised in the Statement of income and retained earnings, except that a charge attributable to an item of income and expense recognised as other comprehensive income or to an item recognised directly in equity is also recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity respectively.

The current income tax charge is calculated on the basis of tax rates and laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the balance sheet date in the countries where the company operates and generates income.

3. JUDGMENTS IN APPLYING ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND KEY SOURCES OF ESTIMATION UNCERTAINTY

The directors consider the accounting estimates and assumptions below to be its critical accounting estimates and judgments:

Useful Lives of Tangible Fixed Assets

Long-lived assets comprising primarily of plant and equipment and office equipment represent a significant portion of total assets. The annual depreciation charge depends primarily on the estimated lives of each type of asset and, in certain circumstances, estimates of residual values. The directors regularly review these useful lives and change them if necessary to reflect current conditions. In determining these useful lives management consider technological change, patterns of consumptions, physical condition and expected economic utilisation of the assets. Changes in the useful lives can have a significant impact on the depreciation charge for the financial year. The net book value of fixed assets subject to depreciation at the financial year end date was €66,956 (2015: €61,487).
