With the spotlight increasingly on boards and their performance and with a growing awareness and acceptance of the need for board members to be fully appraised of their responsibilities and kept up-to-date with the latest developments in corporate governance, the Institute of Directors in Ireland (IoD) offers customised training to meet the needs of your board.

The IoD's Bespoke Board Training in corporate governance delivers, in a confidential setting, effective solutions for the development needs of your board, through customised training programmes that equip your board with the knowledge and tools to achieve its objectives.

In every case, we work with you to fully understand your training requirements and expectations so that the programme you undertake is aligned perfectly with the needs of your board and maximises the value of the process as a learning experience for each board member.

We will customise a programme fitted exactly to your board's needs – whether you simply require an introductory training session on corporate governance and directors' responsibilities, or if there are particular issues that your board needs to address, the IoD can offer the right training solution.

Our tailor-made training programmes are designed to be highly interactive and concentrate on giving participants a real understanding of the issues under discussion. Board members can feel comfortable about speaking candidly as all of our tailored training programmes take place in a confidential setting – it's just your board and our trainer.

BENEFITS FOR YOUR BOARD

- ☒ Better understanding of the role and duties of the director
- ☒ Increased knowledge of current best practice in governance and risk management
- ☒ Improved capacity to identify, define and manage conflicts of interest

EXPERTS TALKING TO EXPERTS

What's unique about the IoD's Bespoke Board Training is that our programmes are delivered by people who are not only skilled facilitators and experts in the field of corporate governance, but most importantly, they also work at board level within organisations ranging from multinational corporates and SMEs, to private and not-for-profit bodies, and are experienced non-executive directors themselves.

This means that whatever your programme objectives, your board will benefit from direct and relevant experience and interaction with a trainer who can offer independent expertise and guidance on the issues faced by your board.
